This book is packed with information and is very helpful for starting out. * For a detailed introduction to Photoshop layers and effects, try _Photoshop CS3 Layers & Effects: The Complete Visual Guide_ by Chris Gannon and Brian Francis (Apress). This book takes an in-depth look at each and every layer and provides a wide range of tips and tricks as well as many practical examples. ## What's Inside a Layer? A layer is a discreet subunit that can be edited and modified separately from the image underneath. Each layer consists of a background color and transparency, as well as a layer mask. A layer mask is simply a selection that is transparent and saves you the trouble of having to paint a selection yourself. * As you change the settings on the Photoshop workspace, different views are shown on the Layers panel, as shown in Figure 2-1. The Layers panel can be opened at any time and contains a list of all the layers in the image you are working on. * The Layer/View menu, located in the upper-left side of the Photoshop workspace, shows the selections on the currently selected layer or the layer above the currently selected layer. Use the Select Layer/Layer Mask (or Layers, then Layer Mask) menu to select a different layer or layers, or to select the Layer Mask. With a layer selected, use the Layer/Layer Mask/Dodge/Burn menu to change the overall look of the layer. This tool enables you to soften or brighten or darken or lighten the image on a layer basis. ## Working with Layer Masks The second most important tool on the Layers panel is the Layer Mask, as shown in Figure 2-1. Layer Masks are used to select or deselect the individual layers of a picture by painting them. You can then adjust the picture without affecting what is already painted on that layer. * Selecting a layer uses the entire

Cow-to-dog transmission of atypical Johne's disease among feedlot cattle using fecal culture and PCR. The objective of this study was to evaluate the occurrence of atypical Johne's disease (AJD) among cattle by fecal culture and PCR in Northern Ireland. Fecal specimens from 2,500 slaughtered cattle were collected at meat inspection in 2 commercial slaughterhouses. Fecal culture and PCR were conducted to test for Mycobacterium avium subsp. paratuberculosis (MAP) from 15,506 samples. Positive samples were evaluated for bacterial biochemical characteristics and spoligotyping. Overall, 23 (0.95%) cattle were culture positive; 48 (1.99%) were PCR positive; 12 were confirmed by spoligotyping. The most frequent spoligotypes were Singleton 926 (10 cattle), Singleton 911 (6 cattle), and Singleton 1752 (4 cattle). Collectively, these observations indicate that cattle are a possible reservoir for infection with MAP in Northern Ireland.Q: Regex to capture groups for sorting using PHP I have a text like this: I need to sort (give URL) path of all the nodes and somehow group the nodes with the cat and dog in a path. for instance: Since cat_1 comes after cat_2 and cat_3 respectively, the resulting URL is [cat_1/dog_1/cat_2/dog_2/cat_3/dog_3]. This should work for any number of nested/contained nodes. Note that, cat_1, dog_1 and the URLs like "cat_1/dog_1" should be ignored. I already have a solution for this but it's extremely inelegant and not efficient. Is there any way in PHP to achieve this? I'm also open to another solution such as parsing the text in other ways so I don't have to do it with a regular expression. Any advice? Thanks a lot in advance! A: Okay I have figured out this solution now: $path = "
